

Press release

Gambellara , January 2010

ALPEGO Srl and MATERMACC SpA start a new Trading Company.

ALPEGO Srl - based in Gambellara (Vicenza) - who are historical manufacturers of implements for the working of the soil and MATERMACC SpA, - based in San Vito al Tagliamento (Pordenone) - who specialize in seed-drill and fertilizing techniques, join their trade organizations.

This is a clear answer to the ever more pressing demands by people who make agriculture their business. They demand quality, ability and concentrated services by increasingly larger organizations, where knowledge of and expertise in the implements they manufacture is a must.

This new Company, resulting from a cooperation which has already been put to the test in some important markets, will develop a trading organization whose goal will be that of offering to the customer the advantage of a single trading partner able to supply a larger range of products.

Giovanni Pegoraro and Antonino Florindo, representing ALPEGO Srl and MATERMACC SpA respectively, have set aside the individualism which is typical of this line of business and are determined to follow the road of the commercial sharing without, however, sacrificing the identities of their respective Companies which have been for many years at the forefront in their respective fields of production.
